A young couple fully dissected and taken over.

They were coming away from the theater, and they fell to discussing the young couple who sat in front of them. "They are evidently married," said the girl in the Persian waist. "I noticed that they didn't exchange a word while the curtain was down."

"Nonsense; they are merely engaged," said the girl in the black gown. "I heard him tell her that he did not consider the leading lady even pretty."

"Perhaps they are merely brother and sister," suggested the young man of the party.

"No, they weren't," said the girl in the Persian waist; "he'd have gone out before the acts if he was only her brother, while an engaged man wouldn't want to leave her, and—"

"A newly married man would not dare to," broke in the girl in the black gown.

"She took off her hat as soon as she came in," remarked the young man. "That looks as if she was married and in the habit of consulting the feelings of some one else."

"Or that they were not really engaged yet and she wanted to show him how considerate she could be," said the girl in the black gown.

"Or that she was merely conscious of having pretty hair," said the girl in the Persian waist. "Will you wager a box of chocolates that they are not married?"

"I—I'd rather you ladies would settle it between you," said the young man hastily. "You have so much more insight in such matters, you know."

"There they come now," said the girl in the Persian waist. "Let us notice what they do, and perhaps we can decide. If they are merely friends, they will stop for cream, soda and—"

"If they are engaged, she will tell him how hungry she is, and they will stop for supper," said the young man bitterly.

"While if they are married," went on the girl in the Persian waist, "he—there, what did I tell you?"

The couple passed before a cigar shop, and he went in, while she waited at the door.

"You were right," said the girl in the black gown, "they are married."—Chicago Times-Herald.

AS TO WAITERS.

The Frenchman's politeness and the Negro's apathy in Table Service.

The recent discussion of the subject of tips to waiters occasioned a great many talks about tips to waiters and led to many disputes as to the relative propriety of waiters of different nationalities. In one of these, wherein the chief disputants were arguing the respective merits of the negro, who was declared to be always beforehand of a diner's wants, and the Frenchman, whose politeness was particularly commended, the statement was made that one could even forgive bad service in a French waiter because of his ceaseless efforts to please and to convey the impression that his own desire in life was to serve commendably his patron of the moment, though the meat he brought as tenuous as a spider's web.

It was contended that the Frenchman was so accurate a judge of human nature that in spite of the carelessness of the cook or the poor quality of the fare he made sure of his tip by giving some nice tidbit toward the end of the meal and intensifying his politeness concomitantly.

"I willingly leave a small gratuity," said his supporter, "for the sake of receiving attention that approaches private service. I dislike to have things slapped down before me with the independent snap of a sovereign American citizen. The dishes may be more substantial than are put down by the smug white native or the negro, but I would rather do with less victuals and have the service of the attentive Frenchman, with his 'sir' and 'if you please.'"

"I would rather," said his vis-a-vis, "have less food and less politeness, than suffer the attentions of your French waiter, whose defensiveness, I find, permits him to dump a plate of soup in your lap in order apparently to give him opportunity to say, 'Excuse me.'"—New York Times.

People Were Allowed to Look.

The late Lord Bath was one of the first territorial magnates in the south of England to throw open his country seat to the public. Visitors have been for many years past free to walk where they please about Longleat park—which is extremely beautiful and 16 miles in circumference—and to inspect the gardens and grounds, while boats are provided for them on the large lake, which is a notable feature in the domain. The interesting house, with its pictures, library and art treasures of every description, has also been open to thousands of visitors every year.

Longleat was built during the reign of Elizabeth, and the house has never been much altered in appearance, although all kinds of improvements have been carried out. The late Lord Bath built the stables, which are very fine. One prominent feature in the park is a wooded hill which, from the magnificent prospect which it commands, is known as Heaven's gate. The Bath estates in Somersetshire and Wiltshire were in very bad order when the late owner succeeded his father in 1877, but they are now in perfect condition in all respects, and there is not a single vacant farm.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritant to his dyspeptic friend. One man in a hundred is perfectly healthy. The other 99 have some digestive trouble, and perhaps more than 50 per cent. of these could trace their trouble to that most prevalent evil—constipation. It's a simple thing of itself, but like many simple things, it may grow and become complicated. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. There is no reason save that of carelessness why it should cause the trouble that it does. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off her burden, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. Nature is not a day-dropper and should not be overworked. Nature is systematic. Some little thing may interfere with the system, and cause serious derangement. The removal of this little impediment sets the wheels working again without any trouble.

This is exactly what Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action, and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. The use of the "Pellets" doesn't derange the system in any way, and once it is in order, you can stop taking them. There are unscrupulous druggists who will tell you that something else is just as good as the "Pellets"—or worse. Whether they are ignorant or untruthful matters little to you if you do not get the "Pellets." Insist on getting what you ask for.

THE FIGHT AGAINST SILVER.

Armour & Co., the pork and beef packers, who made many millions of dollars in a few years by buying cattle and hogs at the prices fixed by the trust, employing the cheapest labor procurable to dress them, and selling the meats at trust prices, recently, at the instance of Mr. Hanna, attempted to give their employees an object lesson on the financial question by importing Mexican dollars and paying them out for change. The object lesson was a complete failure, and if the United States officers did their duty and prosecuted millionaires as they do poor men, Armour & Co. would get into serious trouble.

But the Canadians are playing the same game with American silver coins that Mr. Hanna's men are playing with Mexican dollars, for the purpose of creating a prejudice against silver. Everywhere in Canada notices are posted in business places that American silver coins will not be taken except at a discount. They are refused on the street cars, at the newsstands, in the hotels and restaurants and the railway stations. American coins are not a legal tender for any amount in Canada, and Mexican coins are not a legal tender in the United States, and people are not obliged to take them except at their own valuation.

The action of the Canadians, though intended to injure Bryan in the border States, has thoroughly neutralized the Mexican dollar business in the United States. It shows that the coins of one nation, not being a legal tender in another, are accepted or rejected at the option of the creditor. Five-cent pieces, which are composed of 57½ grains of copper and 19½ grains of nickel, are a legal tender at their nominal value in the United States, while in foreign countries they are not worth a cent.

The English Parliament passed a law requiring the Bank of England to purchase all gold bullion offered for sale at its counter at the rate of 3 pounds, 17 shillings and 9 pence per ounce. That gives gold a fixed value and the owner of gold bullion will not sell it for less. If the mints were opened to silver as they are to gold, silver bullion would have a fixed value, and every dollar would be worth its coinage value, less mint charges, as gold is now. If the mints were closed to gold as they have been to silver for twenty-three years, no one can tell what its coinage value would be.

Mexican dollars are not a legal tender in the United States and American dollars are not a legal tender in Canada or Europe, but a Mexican dollar will pay 100 cents of debt in Mexico and an American dollar will pay 100 cents of debt in the United States, whether the market value of the silver it contains is 50 cents or 100 cents, simply because the law makes it a legal tender for that amount. There is not and can not be a 50-cent American dollar so long as the law makes the coin a legal tender.

BULLDOZING CIRCULARS.

Railroad offices are being flooded with circulars instructing employees how to vote. They are told that in the present crisis they must oppose a solid front, a bulwark of reason and patriotism, to the flood of silver madness which is rising in the Western and Southern States. They are asked what interest they have in helping those who, blinded and led astray as they are, propose to raid the treasury and bankrupt the nation only to make our mine owners wealthy?

"At every shop and every division point on every railway in the country there must be a Railway Men's Sound Money Club and all the information and literature required will be sent free."

Notice the logic of the argument. The gold men tell us free coinage will give us fifty-cent dollars and then say it will enrich the mine owners. But that is Mr. Hanna's way of doing things. He does not appeal to men's reason, in fact if he is correctly reported he does not think a workingman is capable of reasoning.

But what are our gold friends and their auxiliaries going to do for ammunition to fire at the Silver party now? The JOURNAL has a dozen or more different kinds of circulars sent to railroad men to induce them to vote against Bryan. The railroads are opposed to the election of Mr. Bryan as he is pledged against the funding bill and all other special privileges heretofore given to railroad companies, and they resort this early in the fight to bulldozing employees to vote against him.

WILL MCKINLEY EXPLAIN?

Senator Thurston of Nebraska in a public speech charged that William J. Bryan was in the employ of and paid by the bonanza mine owners. Mr. Bryan says the charge is absolutely false and without foundation, and Mr. Thurston says he is satisfied that Mr. Bryan tells the truth. It has been alleged that when Mr. McKinley failed a syndicate, of which Mr. Hanna is the head, took up Mr. McKinley's notes to the amount of $118,000 and that the syndicate undertook to get Mr. McKinley into the Presidential chair to use him for their own purposes, which the public may rest assured are not in the interest of the people.

Those who rung the changes on Mr. Thurston's charge against Bryan and insisted that it must be true or Mr. Bryan would deny it, should now insist on an explanation from Major McKinley relative to the charge that Mr. Hanna's syndicate has a mortgage on him and will foreclose it, should he be elected President, unless he does what the syndicate desires.

Texas Politics.

PORT WORTH, Texas, August 19.—A committee of three, representing the Texas Populist party, called on Chairman Dudley of the State Executive Democratic Committee, and requested him to appoint a similar committee to confer on a proposition to fuse on the electoral ticket, composed of seven Populists and thirty-eight Democrats. Dudley refused. The Populists threaten to fuse with the Republicans, giving their vote to the Republican electors in return for the Republican votes for the Populist State ticket.

Charged With Landing Chinese.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 19.—The trial of Richard S. Williams, ex-Custom House Inspector, was begun today. Williams is charged upon four separate indictments, with having illegally assisted in landing Chinese at this port, as well as having levied blackmail on certain Chinese in this city. It is charged that other federal officials are also implicated. Williams says he is sure of acquittal. Sensational testimony is promised by the prosecution.

Killed in a Power House.

NEW YORK, August 19.—William Tanerion was killed last night in the power house of the New York & Queens County Electric Railroad. Mr. Tanerion was seen to enter the power house about 9 o'clock. A few moments later the workmen heard him scream. They found him on the floor mangled and bleeding. He had been caught in the belt of one of the dynamos and crushed. He died in a very short time.

Bound to Kill Someone.

MANSFIELD, O., August 19.—William Bartlow, formerly employed on the Pennsylvania railroad, fired three shots at Railroad Officer Goodman. Goodman was unhurt. Bartlow had a grudge against the officer. Thinking he had killed the officer, Bartlow fired a shot into his head which caused his death. Bartlow carried $10,000 life insurance.

A Fight Over Politics.

SHARON, Pa., August 19.—James Miles and H. W. Frye were arguing politics when they got into a fight. Frye drew a revolver and threatened to shoot Miles, but was promptly knocked down. He jumped to his feet and drew a knife, with which he slashed Miles in the face.

Four Men Crushed to Death.

TOPEKA, Kansas, August 19.—Six cars on a Rock Island stock train were derailed five miles west of here this morning, and four white men, riding in a feed box underneath one car, were crushed to death. The head and limbs were completely torn from one body.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Bryan has decided to make a pretty thorough canvass of New York and will visit many of the large cities.

Rev. Dr. C. O. Brown of Matine Overman fame, is missing. He left Chicago some days ago and cannot be found.

The Western Union Telegraph Company has announced that a reduction in local rates will take place September 1st.

Mark Hanna arrived in New York yesterday and is satisfied with the manner in which the gold men and trusts are responding.

Thurston, after reading the emphatic denial of W. J. Bryan that he has been or is in the employ of silver mine owners, says he has no hesitancy in believing him.

An inquest on the body of Baron Moritz Curt Von Zedwitz, the German yachtman killed in collision, developed the fact that no one was to blame for the accident.

Hiram Price, who killed his wife and mother-in-law last June at Middleboro, Kentucky, escaped from jail. He was recaptured in the mountains and will probably be lynched.

The Populist Executive Committee was in session yesterday at Washington discussing the situation. Vice-Chairman Stevens of the Silver party committee is in Washington and held a conference with Populist and Democratic leaders. It is the wish of the Silver party to secure perfect harmony among the Bryan men.

Mrs. Flavia Todd, a sprightly old lady, was put on the stand in the Fair will case in San Francisco. She said she promised to be a sister to the late Senator Fair and that he had promised her $100,000. When cross-examined a pile of letters from her which had been found in Senator Fair's safe was produced, the first one of which was a request for money and the second showed that she had been more than a sister to Fair. The witness was withdrawn to prevent the letters from being admitted in evidence.

Mail Catchers.
"That man is a mail catcher," remarked a clerk at the city postoffice, "and one of a class who are in such a hurry for their letters that they cannot wait for them to be delivered in the regular way. They stand in line as every mail is being opened and want their letters immediately. As a rule they are a second rate kind of agents who have no office, and they are anxious about their letters for the reason that they expect fees or remittances in them. They come as regularly and as frequently as do the mails, never say a word and depart as soon as the mails are opened, and they find that there is or is not something for them, only to come again at the next mail arrival."—Washington Star.

Our First Coins.

The first coins really deserving the name of United States coinage were struck off as "pattern pieces" by Benjamin Dudley at the instigation of Robert Morris and were laid before congress in 1783 as specimens of what the coinage should be. They were a "mark" and a "quint" and thus described. The "mark"—obverse; an eye, the center of a glory, 18 points cross equidistant a circle of as many stars. The "quint" is similar in design, the value on reverse being noted.

Wearing Away of Coins.

Copper money wears away rapidly. In 100 years $500 worth of pence would be worth only about $260, while the same amount of sovereigns would lose only 3½ per cent of their original value and $500 worth of shillings, on the other hand, would be worth to the extent of some $187. The less the value of coin, of course, the greater its wear and tear. A penny circulates at least 240 times as rapidly as a sovereign.

A Chance Meeting.

Stranger (on the road).—How would you go to get to Mr. Hill's residence? "I'd follow my nose!" snapped the woman with a bit of a pug. "Oh! It's up that way, is it?"—Yonker's Statesman.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physician, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Notice to Free Coinage Men.

It has been computed that a fog costs the metropolis from $50,000 to $100,000 a day. A large portion of this is borne by the railroad companies. As soon as the fog descends the plate layers, without waiting orders, leave their work and undertake the duties of fog signalmen. For this they receive an extra shilling a day. This appears a small item, yet a single fog has been known to cost over $200 for extra wages to plate layers at Clapham Junction alone.
Each fog signal man is supplied with a lantern, flag and a supply of detonators.
By means of these he conveys to the engine drivers the signals which they cannot distinguish through the mist. "Caution" is given by a single detonator, "danger" by two detonators placed upon the rails at a distance of ten yards apart. Detonators are small tin boxes two inches in diameter, each containing three percussion caps and a small quantity of gunpowder. At the base of each are two strips of lead for fastening it to the rail. They are made with great care, chiefly in Birmingham and London, and it is rarely that one fails to explode. The wholesale price of detonators is 1 penny each, and the average annual consumption of each big railway company is about 150,000, costing $225. —San Francisco Chronicle.

Queer Customs a Century Ago.
I thought that I knew most of the manners and customs of the eighteenth century, but I find two or three with which I was unacquainted, so that very likely there are a great many more still undiscovered.
In the year 1793, for instance, visiting was managed by sending round an empty chair attended by footmen—that is to say, the chairmen carried the chair and behind it walked two footmen, who carried the cards and with grave faces asked at each door whether Lady A. was at home. She never was at home.
Again—but only if one was a very great lady—it was common to invite one's friends to a rout, and when the street was blocked with the coaches and the rooms with the company assembled the hostess would call her own coach and go off to somebody else's rout.
Also, for another pretty trait, there were ladies, but not great ladies, who gave frequent card parties and found their hospitality profitable on account of the "card money." At that time every player was supposed to slip something under a candlestick. When the company departed, the servants collected the money for themselves.
In the case of this prudent housewife she lifted the candlesticks herself and kept the coin.—London Quaker.

Almost a Tragedy.
The car stopped at Hillside avenue to allow a big pompous looking man to get on. There was but one seat in the car that was not occupied by a passenger, and that was filled by an enormous bundle, to which sat a little quiet looking man reading a copy of "The Wide World."
"I want it at last," murmured the big man abruptly.
"All right," responded the little
one. "Why don't you take it?"
"Well, take that bundle out of it," growled the other.
"Care not," cautiously remarked
the little man.
"What?" the other asked, frowning.
"The bundle," the little man replied.
"The bundle?" the other asked, frowning.
"The bundle," the little man replied.
"The bundle?" the other asked, frowning.
"The bundle," the little man replied.

The sense of smell and taste appear to be well developed in the great majority of the fish species. Tobacco thrown onboard from vessels is often seized by mackerel and halibut, but is immediately rejected. Nearly all varieties of fish, and more especially the "ground swimmers" are attracted to a great distance by certain kinds of bait. Herring, when fresh and in good condition, are splendid bait for cod, but are of no use whatever if they have become stale from long keeping. Catfish, buffalo and one or two varieties of the bass will take bacon when they will pay no attention whatever to the luscious anglerworm.
The above and other facts which could easily be cited in proof have caused fishermen and scientists to come to the conclusion that the senses of smell and taste are both remarkably developed among the finny tribe. —St. Louis Republic.

never ending quagmire. — Memphis

Explaining His Remark.
"Do you mean to tell me, sir, that I have no proper regard for the truth?"
"I haven't said so, but I will say that if you went into politics the other side would have a busy time guessing between what you said and what you meant." —Detroit Free Press.

A Terrible Strain.
Son—If you think I can be a newspaper writer like you, what is the use of my taking up so many studies on subjects that newspapers never talk about?
Father (a dramatic critic).—They are study for mental discipline and the cultivation of the powers of memory, analysis, etc.
Son—What good will that do?
Father.—If you do not acquire great powers of concentration, combined with wonderful penetration, backed by enormous retention, you will never be able to get the hang of the family history outlined by the servants in the first act of a new play. —London Answers.

Probably Not.
"I see that the Brown-Jones-Thomson-Peters are going to give a party."
"H'm. Will there be any outside invitations?" —Detroit Free Press.

White Brook Trout.
Did you ever see a white brook trout —milk white save for the delicate traceries of his just perceptible spots and for the crimson tipped fins below? It is not likely you ever did, unless you have stood where I stood some time ago and looked down into the fish hatchery pools and tanks, where I saw more than 2,000 of these white trout in one long tank and perhaps 100 larger ones in a grass fringed pond outside of the hatchery walls. The white brook trout is a freak of nature, but a most beautiful fish, and if his race is to be perpetuated, as seems probable, a rare addition will be made to the brooks.

One day when a workman in the state fish hatchery near this city chanced to see two little trout, pure white and perfectly formed, darting around among thousands of others at the bottom of the gravelly tank, he made up his mind he would see if they could not be kept alive separate from the rest and raised to mature fishhood. He succeeded better than he had anticipated, and there are 2,000 progeny of this fruitful pair. The only obstacle which seems to be in the way of their becoming a popular addition to the trout streams is their abnormal shyess, a shyess which causes to amount almost to shamefacedness.
Of course, the average brook trout is one of the outcast of the whole finny tribe and not overcautious at any time to show himself, but these white trout are strangely averse to publicity, so to speak. —St. Paul Letter in Chicago Academy.

The Coming Age.
"What a sweet baby you have, Mrs.
Wheeler! Does it talk at all yet?"
"Yes, it can say 'mamma' beautifully. We are going to put it on a bicycle next week."
"How nice! Does it walk at all?"
"Oh, dear, no! Why, it's only 2 months! Not for half a year yet!" Indeed, to expect a child to walk and the question seemed absurd. — London Tit-Bits.

For your Protection.—Catarrh "Cures" or Tonics for Catarrh in liquid form to be taken internally, usually contain either Mercury or Iodine of Potassa, or both, which are injurious if too long taken. Catarrh is local, not a blood disease, caused by sudden change to cold or damp weather. It starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat.
Cold in the head causes excessive flow of mucus, and, if repeatedly neglected, the results of catarrh may follow; severe pain in the head, a roaring sound in the ears, bad breath, and sometimes an offensive discharge. Thoroughly should be quick to lay inflammation and heal the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles and contains no mercury nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.
UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE,
SUNSHINE, CALIF., May 20, 1896.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT IN compliance with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 18th, 1895, entitled "An act for the sale of timber lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada, and Washington Territory," as extended by the Public Land States by act of August 4, 1892, Elie Chapelle, of Terrell County, Nevada, and Washington Territory, has this day filed in this office his sworn statement No. 680, for the purchase of the NW 1/4 Sec. 18, T. 20 N., R. 10 E., Township No. 20 North, Range No. 10 East, M.
D. M., and will receive a patent for the land landed is more or less than the timber or stone than for agricultural purposes, and establish his claim before said land before the Register and Receiver of this office at Sunshine, California, on Thursday, the 30th day of July, 1896.
He names as witnesses: Anthony Gar-della, Peter Tetzner and John Tetzner, all of
